

Please refer to the glass description for this individual product. If glass options are available, the price listed on the product page of the website is for the CLEAR GLASS option. Other options are considered add-ons and must be quoted separately. Even if the door “beauty shot” is shown with a different glass option, always refer to the glass description for the type of glass that is being priced on the website.

All door glass is tempered and insulated unless specifically stated. Clear glass is the standard glass unless otherwise stated. Low-E glass is an add-on if offered by the manufacturer.
